

Attended Communist School In Dayton, Witness Testifies At Trial Of Melvin Hupman

DAYTON, Ohio, Aug. 26 — A young Dayton screw machine operator today testified in Federal District Court that he attended a Communist party school with E. Melvin Hupman.

Hupman is on trial on a government charge of lying when he signed a non-Communist oath under provisions of the Taft-Hartley Act.

John Mitchell, who gave his address as 1034 1/2 Bolander Ave., Dayton, told the jury in Judge Lester Cecil's court that he met Hupman in the spring of 1946 and attended the school in Dayton in September of that year.

He said the school taught the "Marxist theory" and was set up to show the basic Communist theory.

Joseph Bullock, Cincinnati, assistant district attorney, drew from Mitchell the history of his affiliation with the party. Mitchell admitted joining the party in 1942. From November, 1942, to November, 1945, Mitchell said he was in the Army. He denied any Communist activities in military service, but freely admitted returning to the party when he came back to Dayton.

During the day-long hearing in the second week of the trial, several names were mentioned that recalled the Cincinnati expose, begun by The Enquirer in 1950.

The name of Hy Lumer came into testimony several times, as did that of Len Markland, both of whom were named by witnesses before the House Un-American Activities Committee in Washington. That hearing grew out of The Enquirer's investigation.

Both Melvin Hupman and his wife, Pearl, previously were named as Communists. Hupman was named by Victor Deovitch, Dayton, former UE official at the House Committee hearing. The two also were named by Cecil Scott, Cincinnati, also a former FBI undercover agent, in testimony before the Ohio Un-American Activities Commission.

The key document in the government's case was in evidence today when George W. White, former United Electrical Workers official, testified that he is the affiant signed by Hupman, Marshall Perlin, cocounsel for Hupman, attempted to cast doubt on the presence of Hupman when White notarized the signature.

Earlier in the day, Asbury Turner, former UE member, and admitted former Communist, was cross-examined by defense counsel on his testimony about his associations with Hupman.

Mitchell will return to the stand when sessions are resumed here tomorrow.

France Opposes UN Inquiry Into Her Moroccan Trouble As Being Outside Of Powers

N. Y. Times Special UNITED NATIONS, N. Y., Aug. 26—France, confident that she can block the latest Asian-African attempt to get the United Nations Security Council to look into the troubles in Morocco, today denounced the move as illegal and "insane."

The eleven-member Council also heard Lebanon and Pakistan, two of the 15 countries that have called for open debate into the ouster of Sidi Mohammed Ben Youssef, the former Sultan of Morocco, warn that the demands of Nationalist forces in the Moslem world could not be ignored by the United Nations.

Dr. Vigar Ahmed Hamdani, speaking for Pakistan, said that the Asian and African members of the United Nations were heartened to see great powers using "technicities" in the organization's charter as an excuse to avoid debate. The Pakistani delegate apparently was referring not only to France but to the United States, which has announced that it will vote against hearing the Arab-African complaint of French misrule in Morocco.

For Lebanon, Charles Malik told the council that the situation in Morocco affected not only that country but international peace and security, the stability of the Middle East and the "relationship between Islam and Christendom."

Malik made the day's only reference to the military importance of Morocco, a country in which the United States has built large air bases.

But the opinion here was that, aside from the formality of the vote-counting, the Lebanese and Pakistani delegates and their colleagues in the Asian-African bloc had lost the battle. The deciding factor, delegates believe, was the decision of the United States to vote "no" when the question of adding the complaint to the agenda came up.

The debate today, technically, was all on the question of whether to debate, but the speakers all went into the heart of the Moroccan case. Speaking for France was Henri Hoppenot, who made it clear that his country did not recognize the right of the United Nations to take up the case and would walk out of the chamber of the item were added to the agenda.

Hoppenot told the Council that the former Sultan was deposed not by French forces or pressure but by Morocco's own leaders. France's role, he insisted, was one of a mediator intent on seeing that the peace was kept.

The French delegate said that Morocco's people and leaders had allied around the new sultan, Sidi Mohammed Ben Moulay Arasa.

But on a legal basis, he went on, Morocco was none of the affair of the United Nations. The relations of Morocco and France, said Hoppenot, were within the domestic jurisdiction of France and no international organization could interfere. He said that the Arab-African petition was insane and could only lead the Council down a blind alley.

Dr. Hamdani, speaking in the absence of his chief, Prof. Ahmed S. Bokhari, who is ill, and Malik disagreed with just about every point in the French delegate's argument. They charged that the French actively dethroned the former sultan because they believed him sympathetic to Morocco's Nationalists. And they said that the situation in Morocco was an international affair because Morocco was sovereign and because the controversy posed a threat to peace.

Low Temperature Cooking of meat—The Kitchen Bouquet way—is the economical way to get more servings from your roasts. Slow-cooked meats shrink less, and they're juicier, too. And to be sure your bigger-than-usual roasts have gorgeous brown crackly crusts—just brush meat before cooking with Kitchen Bouquet or with a Kitchen Bouquet browning glaze.

Make rich brown, tasty gravy every time with the help of Kitchen Bouquet. And for that charcoal-broiled look use it on hamburgers, steaks, chops.

Directions for every use are in each package of Kitchen Bouquet. Look for them.

When Vacation's Over let your children and their pals have picnic meals at home . . . with Carnation "Malts" as treats. No trouble for you . . . just supply milk, and Carnation Malted Milk—in both the Chocolate and Natural flavors. The kids will make their own and love 'em. You can rejoice, too, since every delicious swallow of Carnation "Malts" gives those active, growing young ones added rich milk values, and extra minerals and vitamins. All that a Carnation "Malt" is also the perfect drink for teen-ager hostesses to serve. Popular. Easy-to-make. Thrifty. Each serving of Carnation Malted Milk costs less than 2¢. What's more . . .

Each 1 lb. jar of Carnation Malted Milk contains more than 30 generous servings.

You Know How the pain of a headache, or neuritis or neuralgia can get you down! But do you know that Anacin gives incredibly lasting pain-relief the way physicians and dentists recommend? Do keep a supply of Anacin tablets within easy reach, for you see . . .

When The School Bell Rings . . . for the first time, be sure your children have a roll of "Scotch" Cellophane Tape to tuck in their desks. It's the New Formula Tape they want in the handy red and green plaid dispenser. It sticks 6 times tighter . . . sticks at a feather touch. From kindergarten to high school seniors, they'll all tell you cellophane tape is one of their most important classroom "tools" for mending torn notebooks . . . holding book covers, any pet clipper and picture in scrapbooks . . . anchoring loose textbook pages.

You'll need your own roll of this tighter-sticking "Scotch" Brand Tape, too. If the children carry their lunches. To avoid a morning rush, make up sandwiches the night before . . . wrap and seal with tape; keep in the refrigerator overnight.

Anacin is like a doctor's prescription; that is, Anacin contains not just one, but a combination of medically proven, active ingredients.

Perhaps you already know the quick effectiveness of Anacin—you're sure to, if you've received Anacin tablets from your physician or dentist. In that case you probably carry Anacin tablets with you everywhere.

I do! In flat tins of 12 or 30; economy bottles of 50 or 100 tablets.

Modest Or Not? I must say I feel like a million since discovering Lanolin Plus Liquid Cleanser and Lanolin Plus Cleansing Cream for Dry Skin. They make my face so delightfully fresh and clean. And, they're both much more than cleansers, thanks to their rich content of Lanolin Plus. Lanolin Plus, you see, is most similar to our natural skin oils so it softens as it penetrates . . . and replenishes vital oils in our skin . . . retards the dryness that invites premature lines. To keep your skin soft and smooth and clean, be sure you get this creamy lotion—Lanolin Plus Liquid Cleanser. But if you've gone and got dry skin from exposure to sun, wind or water, don't worry. Just use your Lanolin Plus Cleansing Cream for Dry Skin, which contains a superabundance of Lanolin Plus. With the velvety softness and refreshing glow it gives your skin, you'll look and feel like a million. And don't worry about cost! Each cleanser is only $1.00 plus tax.

U. S. EXPEDITION Ends In Tragedy

One Killed, Others Hurt
In Fall When Scaling Unconquered Peak

KARACHI, Pakistan, Aug. 26 (AP)—Death and injuries have foiled a nine-man American mountain-climbing expedition in its attempt to scale Mt. Godwin Austen, the world's highest unconquered peak.

Delayed reports from Kashmir today said Arthur K. Gilkey, a 26-year-old New York geologist, gave his life in the attempt.

These advices gave this story: Gilkey was killed when the party, roped together, fell more than 100 feet over a razor-edged ridge at 24,000 feet. Others would have been killed, too, but for the last man on the rope. He was able to anchor the line by throwing his full weight against a ledge, enabling the others to be pulled to safety.

Two members, descending the treacherous, blizzard-swept 28,250-foot peak, were injured seriously and are suffering from frostbite. They are Robert W. Craig, a ski instructor from Colorado Springs, and physicist George R. Bell, Los Alamos, N. Mex.
