SYLVIA PLATH

Absence Unexplained

Missing Wellesley

Student Is Found,

Put in Hospital

WELLESLEY, Mass., Aug. 26

(AP)—Wellesley police said today that Sylvia Plath, 20, a Smith college senior missing since Monday, had been found.

She was taken to Newton-Wellesley hospital by police who refused further details immediately and declined [declined] to answer when asked about a report she had been located in the cellar of her own home.

When she left home Monday the girl left a note for her mother saying [saying] she was going for a hike.

The mother, Mrs. Aurelia S. Plath, a Boston University professor [professor], said her daughter's disappearance [disappearance] may have been due to a temporary nervous disorder linked [linked] with her writing.

Miss Plath was editor of the Smith Review, the college literary magazine, last year, and has sold fiction and poetry to magazines and other publications.

Mrs. Plath said her daughter "recently felt she was unworthy of the confidence held for her by the people she knew. For some time she has been unable to write either fiction, or her more recent love, poetry.

"Instead of regarding this as just an arid period that every writer faces at times," the mother said,
"she believed something had happened [happened] to her mind, that it was unable [unable] to produce creatively any more."
