

Communist Spies Caught By Allies

TOKYO, Aug. 28 (UP)—Reliable sources reported today that the Allies have captured more than 20 teams of Communist spies sent through the buffer zone in Korea to gather information on Allied positions.

"Many of them confessed," an informant said.

He said the spy teams were operating as civilians fleeing from Communist rule in North Korea.

The spies were quoted as saying the North Koreans expected the Allies to violate the armistice and renew the fighting in October.

"If we caught 20 of these spy teams, there must have been others who got over and back without being detected," an Allied officer said. "It's an obvious violation of the armistice agreement."

FSU Business Practices Scored
TALLAHASSEE, Fla., Aug. 28 (UP)—The Board of Control today directed its secretary to make a study of several Florida State University business practices which were criticized last month by the state auditor.

It told W. F. Powers to make the study with a view toward recommending a policy for future operations.

The auditor criticized the institution for carrying on hand funds considerably in excess of its current needs and paying expenses of "commercial type enterprises" from tax money.

FSU President Doak S. Campbell said he felt the expense items were properly charged but agreed with the board it would be wise to set a definite policy for the future.

Operation of the FSU farm, with gal of hogs and beef cattle to private parties was one of the "commercial type enterprises" criticized by the state auditor.

PRIMO CARNERA
BECOMES CITIZEN

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 28 (UP)—Primo Carnera, former world heavyweight champion, took his wife and two children to federal court today and all of them became United States citizens.

Carnera's wife, Fina, is a native of Yugoslavia. The 6-foot, 6-inch giant and his children were born in Italy.

Carnera won the heavyweight crown from Jack Sharkey in New York City June 29, 1932, and lost it two years later to Max Baer. After spending the war years in Italy, Carnera returned to the United States in 1946 to take up a wrestling career.

Currently he is working in two Hollywood movies: 20th Century Fox's "Prince Valiant" and Paramount's Bob Hope starrer "Cassanova's Big Night."

After today's ceremony, the wrestler said, "My family and I are about the happiest people in the world."

The nationwide Bell System telephone companies today proposed a $66,400,000 a year increase in interstate long distance telephone rates to help offset "greatly increased" wages, materials and taxes.

The companies, faced with strike-backed wage demands from the CIO Communication Workers of America, filed the proposed new rates with the Federal Communications Commission. They will become effective Oct. 1 unless the commission rejects them or decides to hold hearings on them.

The companies want increases in night and Sunday basic long distance rates and in overtime charges for day, night and Sunday calls. No changes would be made for the basic three-minute period for daytime calls or for any calls of less than 24 miles. In addition, no charge would be made in intrastate long distance calls.

The companies said the increases would mean a hike of about 8 percent in revenues from long distance calls. They now realize about $830,000,000 a year from this source.

Overtime rates would be increased 5 cents a minute for all calls that last longer than the basic three-minute period.

The companies also would increase rates for the first three minutes of night and Sunday calls by 5 or 10 cents for most distances between 1 and 2,300 miles.

They told the commission the increase would yield an additional $30,000,000 a year in net earnings after taxes. They said it would amount to an additional 1 1/2 percent return on their investment in interstate operations.

They added that the proposed increases were the first in long distance rates since 1919, except for a few minor changes.

No Heat Relief In Sight
CHICAGO, Aug. 28 (UP)—The eastern half of the nation roared in 90-degree heat today, and there was no relief in sight.

Weather forecasts were for fair and hot again tomorrow, and probably Sunday.

At Chicago the heat shattered the record for the date for the third straight day. Today's high was 97, topping an old record set in 1926.

New York sweltered in 96-degree heat. This tied the year's record, set in 1925.

Philadelphia's high of 93 tied a record set in 1948.

Other temperatures were 98 at Huntington, W. Va., 95 at Cincinnati, O., and Detroit, 94 at Milwaukee, Indianapolis, and St. Louis, 93 at Minneapolis, and Akron, 7, 92 at Kansas City, Mo., and 90 at Cleveland.

The heat wave extended from the Central Plains eastward to the Atlantic Coast and northward through the Great Lakes region and New England.

The Gulf Coast and Florida enjoyed temperatures in the 80s while north-central Border States and the West coast also had pleasant weather.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 28 (UP)—The U. S. Court of Military Appeals today unanimously upheld the death penalty imposed on Army Pvt. John F. Vigneaull, Goffis Falls, N. H., and Richard A. Hagelberger, East Aurora, N. Y., for the 1952 slaying of two German civilians.

The condemned men have five days in which to ask the court for a rehearing. If they are rebuffed clemency would be up to President Eisenhower.

The three-man military court rejected pleas of the two men that they did not receive a fair trial during their court-martial in Germany.

The court said Vigneaull "had confessed" to the shooting of two Germans near Diebach the night of April 18, 1952 during an armed robbery, and that "there was no disputing the evidence."

The soldiers were charged with robbery and the "felony killing" of Paul Eckart and Lothar Schlosser, German nationals, and stealing Eckhart's automobile. Hagelberger was accused of inciting Vigneaull to shoot the Germans.

Boy Victorious Over Baboon Eating Melons
CHICAGO, Aug. 28 (UP)—A five-year-old boy beat a baboon in a water-melon eating contest today.

But the animal's woman keeper had an alibi. She said the baboon's table manners were too proper.

The Brookfield Zoo rounded up three small boys, two monkeys and Josephine, the baboon, for the big contest in its newly-opened children's zoo.

The contestants were set down at a table and large slices of watermelon were placed before them.

Miss Martha Oestricher, 19, an attendant, held Josephine on a leash just in case she got rambunctious.

"On your mark, get set, go!" Miss Oestricher shouted, and the contest was on.

The monkeys immediately ran off and scamped up nearby poles, chattering and watching the proceedings with beady eyes.

The boys grabbed their watermelon slices in their hands and quickly were buried up to their ears.

Josephine was more fastidious. She wouldn't begin until Miss Oestricher raised the slice to her mouth, then munched delicately.

Kenneth Miller, the eventual winner, took a big lead over the field, which included Rick Kacena and Edward Novak, both 5.

The boys' parents and about 150 spectators shouted encouragement as the watermelon seeds flew in all directions.

The boys were told to stop when they were full and when they settled back with satisfied grins, Kenneth was the clear winner.

He had eaten about three-quarters of his slice, while Josephine, in second with about half of her's gone. The other boys were not far behind Josephine.

The monkeys never did get into the fray and by this time had lost all interest.

Zoo officials announced that the contest "proves conclusively that the American boy has no peers among the animal kingdom when it comes to eating watermelon."

Penn Seeking New Coach
PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 28 (UP)—One of the University of Pennsylvania's football greats stepped from what probably will be a long search for a new head football coach to succeed George Munger.

Munger has tendered his resignation to be effective after the 1953 season. He will remain at Penn as dean of the department of physical education.

First coaching candidate, of the many expected, to call on Athletic Director Jerry Ford was Bob Odell all-America quarterback at Penn a decade ago and one of Munger's favorite pupils. Odell now is assistant to Coach Ivy Williamson at the University of Wisconsin.

Ford told a reporter after the meeting today that Bob is "one of many applicants for the head coaching post."

"There are many other men to be interviewed, not all of them directly applying for the job," Ford said.

"We hope to talk with all of them, to get all the information about their backgrounds, capabilities and personalities. The number to be interviewed is indefinite. So is the time we will spend on this fact-finding expedition."

He acknowledged that first preference in the interviews would be given to Penn graduates or those who have been actively associated with athletics at the university. Eventually, a recommendation would be made to a coaching selection committee, Ford said, adding that the personnel of that committee have not yet been named.

McCarthy Funds Under Scrutiny
WASHINGTON, Aug. 28 (UP)—Atty. Gen. Herbert Brownell Jr. disclosed today the Justice Department still is investigating the financial activities of Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy (R-Wis.).

He told a press conference he would make the results public when the inquiry is completed. He declined to give any details.

The Senate elections subcommittee made an exhaustive study of McCarthy's financial operations last year, at the height of McCarthy's feud with former Sen. William Benton (D-Conn.). It sent its files to the Justice Department for investigation but made no recommendations.

In a separate report, however, the subcommittee questioned whether all the funds collected by McCarthy went to his anti-Communist campaign, as claimed. It criticized the senator's acceptance of $10,000 for a controversial housing booklet and questioned why he borrowed money "for his fight against communism," and then put it into a savings account.

Brownell told reporters there was "no connection" between the department's study and a recent statement attributed to FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover that McCarthy is "honest."

He said he has not seen the full Hoover statement and thus could not answer a reporter's question if it was appropriate for a Justice Department official to comment on a man whose activities were under investigation.

"I have such full confidence and admiration for J. Edgar Hoover that I stress that at every possible opportunity," he said.

The Senate subcommittee investigated McCarthy's financial dealings at the request of Benton who was ousted for re-election last year. Benton tried to get McCarthy expelled from the Senate.

The Senate elections subcommittee relied on a limited number of copies of the report on McCarthy's financial activities, and later ceased publication of the report. But Americans for Democratic Action, a frequent McCarthy target, published and distributed more than 2,000 copies and dared McCarthy to challenge its action in court.

Hobo Royalty Have Coronation
BRITT, Ia., Aug. 28 (UP)—Ben (Hobo) Benson and Silva Davis were crowned king and queen of the nation's hoboes today at their biggest and noisiest coronation.

The elite of travelers in tattered clothes paraded before a crowd of 15,000 to 20,000 in downtown Britt, Ia., where they sang songs and gulped down 1,200 gallons of stew.

Benson, of New York City, was crowned king by Tony Hill, the hulking orchestra leader who is an honorary member of the Migratory Workers, Hoboes of America.

Miss Davis, a Burlington "business woman," was crowned for second term as queen by W. Earl Hall, editor of the Mason City, Ia., Globe-Gazette.

The Christian's Poverty and Riches
BY WILLIAM E. GILROY, D.D.
SAINT PAUL, as Saint Peter is reported as saying (II Peter 3:16), wrote "some things hard to understand."

He wrote, also, a great deal that is simple, clear and beautiful, with the greatest perfection of expression and style, such as I Corinthians 13, Ephesians 3 and many other passages.

And, if some passages are obscure or massive in their exposition and argument, he wrote also a great deal that is deep in perception and thought, but that becomes clear enough in its insight and practical wisdom when one meditates upon it.

Such passages, I think, are those in which Paul mentions money and possessions. He writes about the Christians "as poor, yet making many rich" (II Corinthians 6:10); "as having nothing, yet possessing all things."

James, too, writes (James 2:5) of the early Christians as "poor in this world's goods, rich in faith."

Paul writes of "the unsearchable riches of Christ" (Ephesians 3:8). In the most remarkable passage of all (Ephesians 2:12) he sets forth the fact and doctrine of the Christian's wealth: "Therefore let no man glory in men. For all things are yours: whether Paul, or Apollos, or Cephas, or the world, or life, or death, or things present, or things to come: all are yours; and ye are Christ's; and Christ is God's."

I can imagine a cynic or scoffer saying that that sort of wealth won't do you much good in paying the doctor and the hospital when you're sick, and in meeting all the hard-pressed situations that call for hard cash and legal tender.

All that is true, and no one was more aware of it than Paul. He was a sound, practical economist in the ordinary things of daily life and need.

And, what is more to the point, he was a great originator of organized relief, gathering funds from the better-to-do Christians in successful trades for the relief of their poorer brethren, especially in the church at Jerusalem, where the poverty of Christians seems to have been acute.

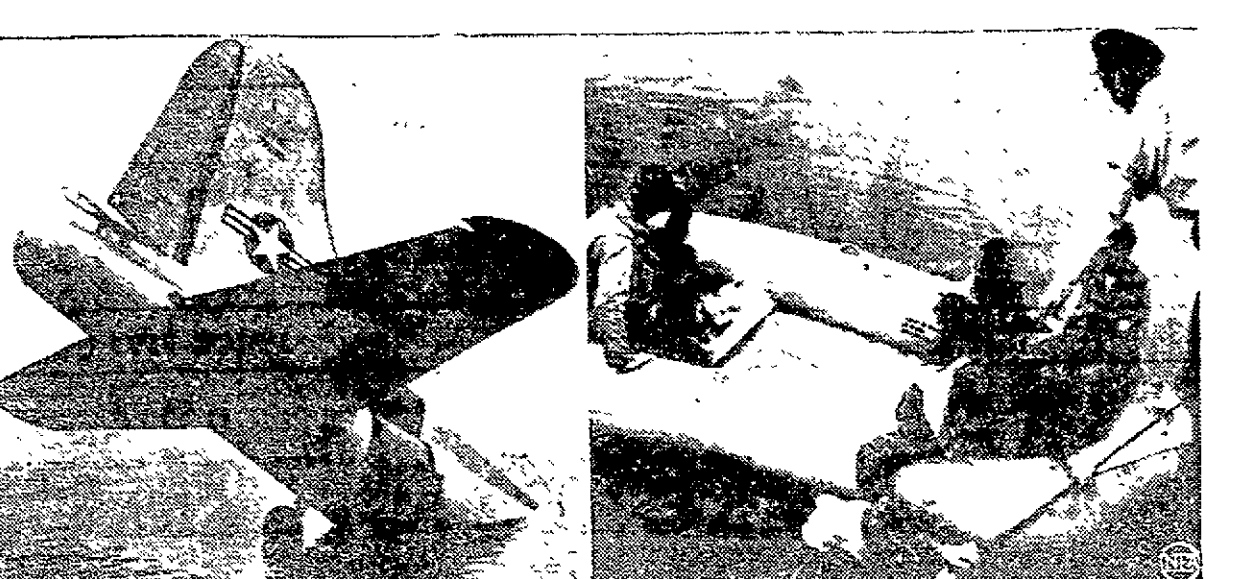

No true Christian can ignore the social problems of poverty and need, or minimize the ways and means of solving it. There is no blessedness about poverty.

It has been my observation that those who sound the blessings of poverty are either usually those who have never themselves known want, or those whose ever their motives are apt to be parasites depending upon others.

The true note of the Old Testament was that of abundance, of hills dropping fatness; and Christianity never abolished that worldly economy.

But the Christian's wealth, of which Paul wrote was real, even if it was not material. The reality and the evidence of it are on every hand. It was a pagan who wrote, "Cleon hath a thousand acres, but the landscape is flat." A song says, with some truth, that "the best things in life are free."

And the free grace of God is the freest, richest thing of all. What Paul wrote stands as a supreme invitation and a supreme fact.

Glenwood Student Registration Next Monday

Registration for all students who expect to attend Glenwood Elementary during the coming term will be held in the school auditorium Monday from 8:30 a.m. to 12 noon and from 1 p.m. to 3 p.m., according to Principal A. D. Harris.

Florida law requires that a child must reach his sixth birthday on or before Jan. 1, 1954, in order to enter the first grade this year.

"For this reason, it will be necessary for all first graders to present verification of their age—birth certificates, insurance policies or doctor's certificate," Harris said.

"During the pre-school planning, tentative plans for the year were completed, including an outline course of study for all grade levels," the principal continued. "Several changes were made in the school's program to meet the child's need."

"The eight new teachers have fallen in line with the general work at Glenwood," Harris said. They are: Lillie Pearl Gibson, librarian; Alireia Simpson, third, Willie O. Palmer, sixth; Grace Demeritte, second; Viola Herring, special art teacher; Nodie M. Cox, fifth; Eugenia Byrd, second; Janet Oney, fourth; and Lou McClelland, sixth.

The free adult classes will begin Sept. 7 and 8 at 7 p.m., he concluded, more definite plans will be announced later.

Seaboard Seeks Tax Assessment Annulment

TALLAHASSEE, Fla., Aug. 28 (UP)—The Seaboard Airline Railway asked the Florida Supreme Court today to set aside an increased assessment of its property for taxes.

It claimed the State Railroad Assessment Board's order boosting the appraised value of its holdings by $5,800,000 was adopted by an unconstitutional procedure and was "arbitrary, unreasonable, illegal and void."

Attorneys for the Seaboard used the procedural question in an effort to get their case directly before the Supreme Court with a motion to review the record and quash the order.

The Seaboard claims in its petition to the Supreme Court that the Board's action was void because it failed to meet requirements of the law that the comptroller show his reasons for believing the returns were incorrect, that the board present the best information it could obtain on the value of the railroad property county by county and in the aggregate, and that it advise the railway of the proposed assessment and the basis for determining it.

The suit was filed by Ausley Collins and Ausley Tallahassee, and James B. McDonough Jr., Norfolk, Va., as attorneys for the railway.

Seaboard declared the value of its Florida holdings at $35,983,000 for taxation in 1953. Comptroller Gay put the figure at $41,509,000. The railway asked for a hearing. The Railroad Assessment Board granted it and adopted Gay's figures.

Police Search For Missing Girl

MARBLEHEAD, Mass., Aug. 28 (UP)—A New England-wide search was ordered tonight for an attractive 15-year-old Wellesley girl who vanished after quitting her job at a swank yacht club here.

Blue-eyed Penelope Protze, a student at the Bourne-Boston school of Tufts College, was last seen Thursday riding a bicycle through nearby Lynn.

Mrs. Herman G. Protze said she had asked her daughter to come home after learning that the girl had quit her soda fountain job at the Eastern Yacht Club Monday.

The wavy-haired college girl had been staying at the Marblehead home of an aunt, Miss Emily Thorner. When the girl did not arrive at Wellesley, her parents went to the Thorner home where they found two packed bags but learned their daughter had ridden away on her bicycle.

Miss Protze was the second Wellesley girl to disappear this week. Sylvia Plath, 20-year-old Smith College honor student, was found semi-conscious in the cellar of her home Wednesday after a two-day search. Miss Plath was hospitalized from the effects of sleeping tablets. She had been under a doctor's care for a nervous condition.

Guatemala Claim In Firm Seizure Rejected By U. S.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 28 (UP)—The United States today rejected Guatemala's claim that it had forced fair compensation to the United Fruit Co. for seizure of 234,000 acres of banana reserve lands.

In a 3,500 word note handed to Guatemalan Ambassador Guillermo Torrella, the State Department said compensation offered to the American company "bears not the slightest resemblance to just evaluation."

The lands, taken over by Guatemala last March, were purchased between 1928 and 1930 by a subsidiary of United Fruit. The contract was to have extended to 1981.

The note said the United States expects Guatemala to conduct its affairs "with justice, with reasonableness and with fairness."

U. S., Russia Vie To Aid Iran

WASHINGTON, Aug. 28 (UP)—Both the United States and Russia appeared today to be giving sympathetic attention to Iran's request for financial aid.

The hard-pressed country has appealed for dollar aid as a bulwark against bankruptcy and President Eisenhower was reported giving careful study to the plea.

Well informed sources were quoted in reports from Tehran as saying Russia also is offering aid in an effort to woo Iran from the United States.

However, American officials here said it is hard to believe Russia will take any real action to bolster Premier Nehru's Zehedi's regime in view of his actions against the "Communist" party in Iran. But they did not rule out a possible financial arrangement between Russia and Iran.

They noted that just before Premier Mohammed Mossadeq was overthrown, the two governments were discussing a trade treaty and Russia's long-overdue payment of $11,000,000 for maintaining Soviet troops in Iran during World War II.

As for U. S. help, it was pointed out that Eisenhower could provide Iran with as much as $20,000,000 in immediate aid from a $100,000,000 fund provided in the Mutual Security Act.

A provision in the law authorizes the President to allocate that much to any country which he determines is important to the security of the United States.

International Craft Racket Probe Dropped

WASHINGTON, Aug. 28 (UP)—The Justice Department has dropped its investigation of Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy's charges that employees of the old "Acheson State Department" engaged in a $150,000 shake-down of a friendly foreign country, it was disclosed today.

Atty. Gen. Herbert Brownell Jr. said the alleged incident took place in 1947 and that no legal action would be possible because of the three-year statute of limitations.

He said the department considered the case strictly from the legal viewpoint and did not go into the merits of the charge itself.

McCarthy, Wisconsin Republican, made the charge July 13 after his Senate investigating subcommittee had questioned a witness in secret session. He refused to give any details except to say the foreign government paid the $150,000 "to get consideration that it was entitled to anyway."

Brownell said he was not sure whether any individuals were identified in the material McCarthy gave the Justice Department.

The incident allegedly occurred during the tenure of Secretary of State Dean Acheson. Brownell said that since no legal action is being taken the matter has been referred to the State Department for any administrative action that may be warranted.

McCarthy has carried on a relentless campaign against what he called "the Truman-Acheson axis" in the State Department. Acheson has made no public statements since leaving office in January.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 28 (UP)—The United States today rejected Guatemala's claim that it had forced fair compensation to the United Fruit Co. for seizure of 234,000 acres of banana reserve lands.

In a 3,500 word note handed to Guatemalan Ambassador Guillermo Torrella, the State Department said compensation offered to the American company "bears not the slightest resemblance to just evaluation."

The lands, taken over by Guatemala last March, were purchased between 1928 and 1930 by a subsidiary of United Fruit. The contract was to have extended to 1981.

The note said the United States expects Guatemala to conduct its affairs "with justice, with reasonableness and with fairness."

Rob Kinsey Appraisal of American Womanhood

LOS ANGELES (UP)—"An unfair appraisal of American womanhood." That's how the ladies of the Pan-Arcadian Federation of America feel about the Kinsey report on their sex.

McCarthy Funds Under Scrutiny

WASHINGTON, Aug. 28 (UP)—Atty. Gen. Herbert Brownell Jr. disclosed today the Justice Department still is investigating the financial activities of Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy (R-Wis.).

He told a press conference he would make the results public when the inquiry is completed. He declined to give any details.

The Senate elections subcommittee made an exhaustive study of McCarthy's financial operations last year, at the height of McCarthy's feud with former Sen. William Benton (D-Conn.). It sent its files to the Justice Department for investigation but made no recommendations.

In a separate report, however, the subcommittee questioned whether all the funds collected by McCarthy went to his anti-Communist campaign, as claimed. It criticized the senator's acceptance of $10,000 for a controversial housing booklet and questioned why he borrowed money "for his fight against communism," and then put it into a savings account.

Brownell told reporters there was "no connection" between the department's study and a recent statement attributed to FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover that McCarthy is "honest."

He said he has not seen the full Hoover statement and thus could not answer a reporter's question if it was appropriate for a Justice Department official to comment on a man whose activities were under investigation.

"I have such full confidence and admiration for J. Edgar Hoover that I stress that at every possible opportunity," he said.

The Senate subcommittee investigated McCarthy's financial dealings at the request of Benton who was ousted for re-election last year. Benton tried to get McCarthy expelled from the Senate.

The Senate elections subcommittee relied on a limited number of copies of the report on McCarthy's financial activities, and later ceased publication of the report. But Americans for Democratic Action, a frequent McCarthy target, published and distributed more than 2,000 copies and dared McCarthy to challenge its action in court.
