

Title: The Tennessean
City, State: Nashville, Tennessee
Date: 27 August 1953
Page: 10

Will Recover

[Photograph of SP wearing necklace and jacket]
—AP Wirephoto

WELLESLEY, Mass.—Sylvia [Sylvia] Plath, 20, Smith College senior and contributor to national [national] magazines, who vanished Monday after telling her mother she was going for a walk, was found under the porch of her home, only semi-conscious. Near her was a container of eight sleeping tablets [tablets]. The bottle had contained 48 when full. Her mother said she had been depressed because [because] she had been unable, Recently, to do creative writing [writing]. Doctors at the hospital here says she will recover.

Transcribed by Peter K. Steinberg, 1 November 2017.