HELD IN SLAYING

Eyes downcast, Mildred McDonald, 25-year-old Somerville stenographer, waits behind jail bars in New York yesterday after police said she admitted the slaying of 14-year-old Mary DiRocco, also of Somerville. (AP Wirephoto)

Brooding Stenog Confesses Murder

NEW YORK, Thursday (AP)—A petite blonde stenographer, who said her boy friend jilted her and married another girl, heads back to Massachusetts today as the admitted fury slayer of his 14-year-old sister.

Mildred McDonald, 25, of Somerville, Mass., weepingly told police she shot, slashed and burned Mary DiRocco in the DiRocco Somerville home Monday in a fit of rage after the child babbled that brother Joseph was happy with his wife.

Waives extradition

Then the blonde sobbingly waived extradition to go back and face a murder charge in the bizarre slaying.

Police said Miss McDonald went with Joseph for two years, prior to his marriage last April, and that she told them:

"I thought we were going to get married. Then he brushed me off. That hurt me. That's

Smith College Girl Found Unharmed

WELLESLEY, Thursday (AP)—A pretty 20-year-old Smith college senior—who vanished Monday after telling her mother she was going hiking—was found yesterday semi-conscious but apparently uninjured under the porch of her home.

While searchers fanned out in a widespread search, Sylvia Plath was located by her brother, Warren, 18, and her grandmother, Mrs. Aurelia Schobar,

TWO SOVIET WAR HEROES STRANGELY MISSING FROM MOSCOW GATHERINGS

By WILLIAM L. RYAN, AP Foreign News Analyst

Marshals Georgi K. Zhukov and Alexander M. Vasilevsky, Soviet war heroes who became deputy defense ministers after Stalin's death, have been strangely missing for the past month from important Moscow gatherings.

ALEXANDER M. VASILEVSKY

Their absence may have much to do with the power struggle in the Kremlin, and possibly even with preparations for a trial of former interior minister Lavrenty P. Beria, the secret police boss who was purged in July.

Speculation

In the hectic days of the Beria purge, there was much speculation in the West about the future of Zhukov. He looked then like a rising power whose popularity and glittering prestige might boost him to a military dictatorship in the Soviet Union.

But now there seems to be a suggestion between the lines in the Soviet press that the Lodge indicated he was ready for a vote. He was confident he has enough votes to prevent an invitation for India to sit on the U. N. side in the conference. He has said he fears Indian participation on the U. N. side would jeopardize the conference because South Korea does not favor sitting beside India.

what I had against Joe. . . .

But as to why she took out her brooding, pent up anger on the little sister, the police said, she kept saying she didn't know.

'Just Plain Crazy'

"She was so young," Miss McDonald was quoted. "I had nothing against her. Everything reeled around me. I was just plain crazy."

She told police she fled to New York later Monday by bus, took a room at the Statler Hotel, then moved to a YWCA while police searched the eastern seaboard for her.

An eagle-eyed patrolman, George F. Grace, spotted her walking Tuesday night near Times Square.

Though the night, she denied any connection with the gun, knife and fire attack, but at about 8 a. m. related the story and signed a written statement admitting the slaying, police said.

Police rushed to her YWCA room and said they found in her luggage a .22 caliber pistol, six used cartridges, some unused cartridges and a knife.

She bought the gun after obtaining in Springfield, Mass., a permit to possess a weapon. Authorities there said she gave a Springfield address and told them she wanted a gun because she intended to live alone in a three-room apartment.

Police said Miss MacDonald wept every now and then

Two Boston attorneys, Dwight L. Allison and E. W. Toomey, talked privately with her for about 25 minutes.

Still Confused

Afterwards, Allison said his client seemed "greatly relieved now that it's all over." He said she was still confused and flustered by the proceedings and rapid developments in the case. Allison said he would ask that she be committed for 30 days mental examination when she is arraigned in Somerville District Court on a murder warrant.

Under Massachusetts law, the court can commit a person charged with murder immediately upon request of counsel. The commitment is compulsory once the person is indicted on the charge.

An indictment may not be returned against Miss McDonald for several weeks. Dist. Atty. George Thompson said he does not intend to present the case to the Middlesex County grand jury before Sept. 2.

the same spot and found the back door of the store open. The detective said they sneaked out two cases of beer and a case of 48 half pints of whisky. Then they went to the home of one of the juveniles on Byron street.

A call from a neighbor reporting that a young man was lying in the street brought police into the case.

As two cars from the Motor Patrol approached, three of the boys, who had come out of the house to unload some more liquor from the car, fled. The 15-year-old was lying in the street, Cushing said, and Badger did not attempt to run away.

Rounded Up in 2 Hours

It was two hours before all five were in custody.

Archaubeau and the 12-year-old boy were picked up by the Motor Patrol at Trumbull square and Tolson was found and another theft.

He said that the lad confessed to breaking into a spa operated by Nathan Apelbaum, 91 Water street, the night of June 19, and stealing $25 in cash, a relief fund box containing $4, and eight cartons of cigarets.

According to Patrolman Cushing, the boy also admitted having stolen a cash register from the J. J. Newbury Co., 10 Front street about a month ago. He said he found the key on a counter and admitted, police said, that when the occasion presented itself he planned to use it.

Planes Brush Each Other But No One Is Hurt

MICHIGAN CITY, Ind., Thursday (AP) — Two airlines planes carrying a total of 51 passengers and six crew members brushed each other at 11,000 feet over Michigan City last night.

The planes, twin-engine Convairs from American Air Lines and United Air Lines, landed safely. No one was injured. Both planes suffered minor damage.

A spokesman for United Air Lines said the UAL plane, carrying 27 passengers and three crew members made an emergency landing at South Bend. The plane was bound from Chicago to Cleveland.

The UAL spokesman said the American Air Lines plane had 24 passengers and three crewmen aboard and was bound from Chicago to Detroit. It returned to Chicago and landed at Midway Airport.

The UAL plane had a three-foot hole in the tail section and the American airliner was punctured on the top of the plane between the pilot's cabin and the passenger area.

The UAL spokesman said the Civil Aeronautics Authority would investigate why the two planes were flying so close together.

Modern Life Too Fast for Men, He Says

SAN FRANCISCO, Thursday (AP) — The simple facts are that American men can't cope with the speed of modern life as well as their women, the Gerontological Society convention was told yesterday.

Fifty years ago, reported Dr. Charles Berwick, an insurance company medical director, there were 102 men past the age of 65 years for every 100 women in the same age group.

Now the ratio has changed to 89 men past 65 for every 100 women.

The reason Berwick said is that medical science has relieved women of a large percentage of the deaths which resulted from child birth, while at the same time greater and greater numbers of men have been dying during middle age from heart diseases.

Farmhand Drowns While Fishing

BUXTON, Me., Thursday (AP) — A 17-year-old farmhand drowned in the Saco river yesterday when he fell off a ledge from which he and a companion were fishing.

Firemen used an inhalator for more than two hours in an attempt to revive Byron Roberts, a high school senior.

James G. Nichols, 25, said he also plunged into 10 feet of water after trying to grab Roberts as the latter stumbled. Nichols said he tried to rescue Roberts but couldn't because the youth struggled with him.

ere said that some improvements were made before the charter was adopted by introduction of the word "justice" but he said that in the eight years of its existence, the General Assembly had made "little progress" in development of international law and its codification.

Dulles said that "this Administration has a vision of something better than bare survival in the face of danger," that he has already announced that the United States will vote in favor of holding a review conference on the U. N. charter when the question comes up before the General Assembly in 1955.

Attacks Proposal

Dulles made a sharp attack on a proposed constitutional amendment to limit the treaty-making powers of the Executive Branch of government of which Senator Bricker (R-O) is the principal sponsor.

He said that if it is adopted, "if the United States renounces the power to act effectively in international affairs, because that power might be abused, the result will be a large measure of international anarchy."

"It is impossible to rewrite the Constitution of the United States so that it is fool proof," he said.

He said that fears of abuses rose because of the activities of some of the committees of the United Nations.

GIRL

66, who heard moaning coming from the cellar of their home.

The girl was found behind a pile of lumber in a tiny space under the porch, through which entrance is gained by a 2 1/2 foot opening about five feet above the cellar floor.

Police Chief Robert McVey said an empty water jar and a container of eight sleeping tablets were found by the girl's side. He said the bottle had contained 48 tablets when full.

Her mother, Mrs. Aurella S. Plath, a Boston University professor, said her daughter recently had been depressed because she felt "she was unworthy of the confidence held for her by the people she knew. For some time she had been unable to write either fiction or poetry."

Miss Plath was taken to Newton-Wellesley hospital where a spokesman described her condition as "fair." The spokesman added that she had suffered "no apparent serious injury."

Chief McVey described the cubicle in which the girl was found as a 20 by 10-foot area, surrounded on three sides by a cement wall, and floored with dirt. He said she apparently moved considerable kindling and scrap lumber, crawled into the tiny space and then replaced the covering wood.

Passed Up in Search

McVey said searchers passed up the sub-porch area in Monday's search of the house because the lumber looked as if it had not been disturbed. The family habitually stored it there.

Miss Plath, editor of her college literary review magazine, has been a frequent contributor of fiction and poetry to magazines and other publications.

Robert D. Larson, sales manager, are conferring with General Motors officials in Detroit, as are district managers of other Worcester area manufacturers.

All companies say they will do everything possible to help return the Livonia plant to production quickly.

Special crews are already assigned to the salvage work at Heald Co., Norton Co. and Leland-Gifford.

In Poor Shape

A Leland-Gifford official said yesterday the machines returned so far are "the most horrible things we've ever seen."

A Norton Co. representative said machines returned there were "in pretty poor shape."

A Heald Co. spokesman said that "in some cases, the machines are damaged beyond repair."

Beyond Repair

Heald engineers reported that wiring, flexible piping, motors and electrical controls are completely destroyed and that many parts built to high standards of accuracy are warped or beyond salvage because of changes in the physical characteristics of the metal itself.

One of the machines returned to Heald is a Bore-Matic precision finisher which had been shipped only a few days before the catastrophe. Locks installed for the shipment from Worcester were still in place, indicating the machine had not been uncrated before the fire.

Mercury Hits 97 in Chicago

By the Associated Press

A blazing sun in a clear sky broiled most of the nation yesterday.

The weather was fair and hot from the Central Plains to the Atlantic coast and from the Great Lakes to Dixie.

Chicago, for example, had a record reading of 97 at 5 p. m. it topped the old high for the date 95.8 reached in 1948. Milwaukee's 96 was a Aug. 28 record for the city.

At least 50,000 residents of suburbs west of Chicago had to cope with a water shortage. The flow through taps dwindled to a trickle in Maywood and Melrose Park. The communities get their water from Chicago, and it was in short supply because heat-pestered Chicagoans were using so much of it.

Cloudiness and showers held temperatures down to the high 70s or 80s along the Gulf from Florida to Texas. Showers also fell in northern Maine and in Washington and western Oregon.

Fair weather on the cool side prevailed from the Rockies west to the Pacific coast.
